

The Lord's Training

Written by Steve Marr
Friday, 05 April 2019 13:40

There is no shortage of training material, including the material on our Business Proverbs site. The training articles on this site and others are man-written. King David wrote, "praise be to the Lord my Rock, who trains my hands for war, my fingers for battle." (Psalm 144:1, NIV)

When I read business books, articles or engage in training; I ask the Lord in advance to show me important takeaways. I want to remember the parts that will advance my business and the parts that will lead to righteous business execution. Often, we think it's the next training, seminar or book that will move our business forward. However, David reminds us that it is the Lord who trains our hands and fingers. The Lord is the Good Teacher who will give us the insights we need better than any human can.

Ask the Lord for his guidance and training every day. You will be amazed at the what God and God alone will provide.

Subscribe to the free Business Proverbs e-mail here: <http://bit.ly/ncixc1>